

Sujeev Association announces E-Learning Plan for Students of Government Schools

Virtual classes planned to teach spoken English and basics in computer skills

Karnataka, Mysore, Apr 4, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Bengaluru-based NGO, Sujeev Association's founder, and president Rajaram decided to draw a plan which will make the students of the government schools learn online since the COVID situation has made people depend on the virtual classroom. Government school students of the Mysore district have been chosen by the Sujeev welfare association tour for training in spoken English and computer basics.

English language would be a necessity when this student would get the opportunity to study abroad or work in multinational companies. Many students are usually trained in regional language as the priority due to the easy understanding of the language. Apart from the global significance of English, the world is also dependent on the use of computers for every assignment in our daily life. The classrooms by Sujeev Association would be held virtually and the technologies such as streaming and live sessions would be used to reach out to these students. Sujeev Association would also have channels where the recorded sessions would be available for students who are unable to attend the sessions or who would want to revisit the chapters.

The idea has been welcomed by the teachers and students in Mysore government schools. As an initial step Sujeev association has started taking the details of students and distributing educational kits with manuals and study materials as the first phase of the plan.

The association focuses on the employment of women so that they can live a happy life by themselves. They thrive to make children aware of education for a better future. They also provide training in vocational skills for women apart from giving security to them. The children that they work with are also given nutritional food for their overall development. Their welfare programs allow the collective liberation of society integrating education and wisdom through significant learning and exposure to new skills.

Sujeev is an NGO in India headquartered in Bengaluru, Karnataka. The organization aims to fulfill basic needs like food, clothes, and shelter along with securities for underprivileged children and women. Sujeev inspires women to develop life-saving skillsets for women so that they can be self-dependent and encourages children to pursue education.
