The splendid rock band BAR II has etched out impressive alternative stuff in the amazing track 'WASTED'. It is an explosive artistic display by the band members.

Verdun, Apr 9, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - The charismatic rock band, BAR II has mesmerized its fans with engaging rock vibes in their latest track. They have treated the fans with fantastic musicality in the song 'WASTED' from their 2-track EP 'Wake Up'. The track has been released by the up-to-the-minute production house 'BAR II'. The band members are in love with rock music and are perturbed by the over-saturation of hip hop and electro in recent times. The band has its own set of mysteries and they hate to be dictated by any imagery. They have raised the bar with raw and pure rock music that has dark edges. The band has their Instagram handle where fans can plug in to view the latest updates.

The very exciting song, 'WASTED' has passionate vibes with raw capture. The prolific rock band, BAR II has dished out a modern sheen with fuzzy distortion. The indie rock band is influenced by iconic bands like the legendary Beatles. They are also bug-bitten by Qotsa or Queens of the Stone Age and also love the beats by the rock duo Royal Blood. The cracking music videos by the popular rock band are trending on YouTube.

The gifted rock band has used flickers of instrumentation in their track with incredible dexterity. The crisp sound is soaked in reverb. Off late, they were part of the release party of their latest EP. Currently, the band members are working on numerous projects and their main focus is on the next project by the band. The fans can listen to the sensational tracks on Spotify.
