

Former NFL Player Starts Jacksonville's First Junior College Football Program

Florida, Orange Park, Apr 15, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Former NFL Player and Jacksonville native, Nolan Carroll II along with his brother Necho Carroll, have brought junior college football to Jacksonville.

The Jacksonville Athletic Academy (JAA), was created to provide overlooked, under-recruited, student-athletes an opportunity to obtain a college education while continuing to chase their athletic dreams.

Nolan Carroll brings 8-years of NFL playing experience to the JAA Football Program. JAA's 2-year JUCO athletic program is structured for student-athletes who wish to be seen by NCAA college coaches and potentially offered scholarships.

“Jacksonville Athletic Academy was created to provide student-athletes the opportunity to continue playing sports at the college level,” Said Carroll. “Many student-athletes were affected by the NCAA ruling to give their college athletes an extra year due to the COVID-19 pandemic, this has limited the opportunities for the class of students graduating high school. At JAA, our mission is to help develop our student-athletes to compete at the next level and provide opportunities for them to be scouted by 4-year NCAA universities.”
