

Home Nursing Services Chennai - Kefi Home Health Care Services

Tamil Nadu, Chennai, Apr 2, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - In recent times, we have become so engaged in day-to-day work that we are inadvertently pushed to a plight where we are not fully able to spend time with our senior citizens. As the number of geriatric diseases are rising day by day, the need to care personally for each of our elderly family members is escalating. This is where home nursing care comes into practice. Home nursing helps you care for your loved ones in times when they are seriously ill or have undergone a major surgery where they require utmost personal attention. This is a crucial phase for their recovery both physically and mentally.

We, at KEFI Home Healthcare, offer a wide range of services to give maximum support and cozy care to our patients for their superfast revival of post-operative health.

Why is Home Nursing better?

- Known environment: Home is the place where you can stay yourself. It provides a happy and peaceful environment where there is no fear of the unknown. It helps you to have a pleasant recovery.
- No chance of hospital-acquired infections: Nearly 15% of the patients every year are prone to hospital-acquired infections according to the World Health Organization. With the home health care system, this issue has almost been resolved as all the procedures post-surgery is done at your home under the supervision of expert professionals.

- Staying with your loved ones: Most of the hospitals don't allow your friends and family to stay with you except for the visiting hours. But in the case of home health care, you can stay with your family and still get exceptional medical service.
- Personalized care: In contrast to hospitals where many patients are looked after by very few staff members, you get your caretaker. They look after every need and make you feel at ease. You get similar medical supervision as in the hospital along with the serene home environment.
- Economical: Nowadays the hospitals' charges have reached sky-high. Home nursing facilitates the exact care at home as in the hospital at a reasonable price.
- Desired diet: At home, you will be following the food habits described by your doctor and still will be enjoying all the flavors with the required amounts of nutrients.

What Kind of Services are provided?

Home health care is available for all patients of various sorts like those who have been discharged recently after major surgery, the elderly those who require special care, etc.

- Post-surgical care: Your pace of recovery after a major surgery depends both on your mental health and the undivided care you receive after the procedure. When in hospital surrounded by all the tubes and needles, you will be anxious which will delay the revival of your health. This is how home health care helps where you will get expert care in your comfort zone.
- Post-transplant care: After the organ transplants, there is a lot to care for your health and also many medications are to be taken to prevent graft rejection. So, to reduce your inconveniences, home health care presents you with proficient nursing care at home where they give you all the medicines in the scheduled time and also provide the prescribed diet.
- Tracheostomy care: Tracheostomy patients require special care as the chances of infections are very high. Home health care provides you with skilled nurses. They take expert care of your trach tube and also help in maintaining the dressing dirt-free to prevent any possibility of contamination.
- Physiotherapy: It is most helpful for those who have joint pains and have undergone any orthopedic procedures. Also for those who are recovering from fractures, etc. are given exceptional attention.
- Speech or language therapy: Post-tracheostomy care includes speech therapy as the voice will be hoarse. The home care speech therapist will help you regain your speaking skills.

In the present-day situation where the expense of hospital stays has reached sky-high, home care nursing gives you affordable yet best health care for your loved ones in your home environment with expert medical advice. There is an added advantage as they also include certain daily house chores if asked for. Visit at <https://kefihomehealthcare.com>
