

Interview with sasan keneshlou Iranian singer

Iran, Tehran, Apr 10, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Can you tell us a little about yourself?

I am sasan keneshlou, born on 1990/05/24 in Tehran, I became interested in music from a young age and I considered myself one of the best from those days, I always sang on the songs of Abi and other great musicians, my origin is from province Tehran.

Why did you choose this path?

I think everything depends on the self and the human mind, I was also interested in music, good things are coming, we will see soon.

What is your most important wish? What is it that you always think about and pursue?

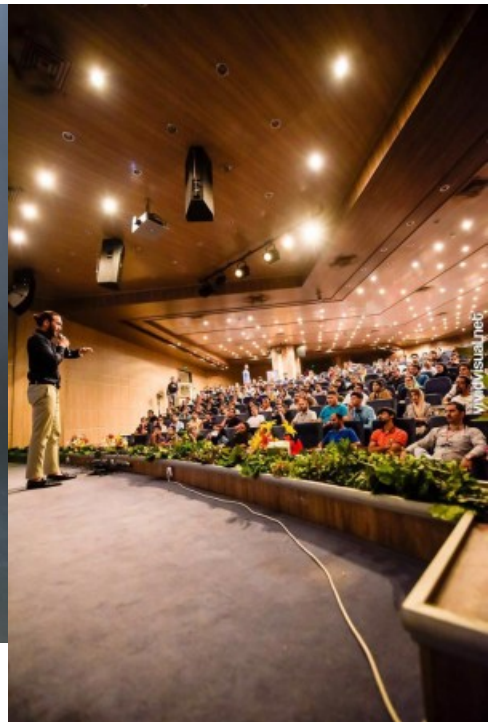

The goal is to want more. That is, if you set a goal for yourself, as soon as you reach it, you want something higher. This is not very good, but I would like to introduce Iranian music to the world. I still see that Rumi is respected and loved all over the world, why? Because it deals with the content and it is important to it. But I always look for surprises. I like to always remain unknown. People should never think that they have identified all the inner layers of “sasan keneshlou” and have been able to know him completely. In the future, you will see new directions from me that will surprise many.

Do you have any criticism about Iranian music?

Criticism that is always there, I think Iranian music is a little unrestrained and needs a savior, I will not say more than this, it may upset many people.

Where and in what place do you see the end of your path in music?

I'm on the way, I personally do not see an end to this path, but my eyes are definitely on the distance, we will go up the stairs one after another, this is my wish
