They have a very interesting story behind the making of their song. When we asked what is the story behind the making of Puthiya Kaariyam,

Deri Lorus says,

"At first, we started writing lyrics slowly we got catchy melody for the Chorus. We three were completely satisfied with that melody and we slowly composed the verse. Then, we completed the composition for the whole song and started arranging and programming the instruments. We programmed everything except Tabla because we don't have anything initially to invest in. Day by day we were working on the track we reached Oasis Recording Studio for a Vocal session. We got the vocal ready and started to mix the song ourselves."

"When we finally had the audio, we planned for a Music Video for the song. We decided on an outdoor Video shoot and we're searching for locations. We hired a relative of mine for the shoot who is a Cinematographer because we don't have a huge to produce on videography. And the visual output totally merged with the song and we were very satisfied with the video. We believed that this song going to be a blessing to many. We fixed a date for the Release. On the 15th of February, we released the Music Video on YouTube and we made it available on all digital platforms. We all were waiting for the views and we are amazed it reached many and was a blessing. Many shared their review and testimonies with us. We are thankful and grateful to God."

Deri is a shy and quiet man, but his music has emotional force. Renowned for his immense range, he'll do a traditional score for a conventional song, then blend exotic vocals with Western classical arrangements in his projects.
