

PixelPlex Showcases Its CryptoAPI, A Technology That Integrates and Eases Business Processes

Crypto API from PixelPlex is a blockchain-based innovation that helps to connect blockchain networks and dApps.

New York, New York City, Apr 19, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - PixelPlex has proven its status as one of the pioneers of the application of blockchain technology by building CryptoAPI, a solution for connecting dApps to blockchain networks at a lightning speed with no commission.

Before developing this solution, the PixelPlex team of engineers analyzed the difficulty of connecting dApps to blockchain systems directly and they identified some salient issues. Some noteworthy and reoccurring issues include but not limited to the unavailability of the details of token transactions, the necessity to keep a team of blockchain engineers for constant monitoring, and libs updates. The PixelPlex engineering team then alleviated the problem by making data retrieval easy, appropriately organizing required blockchain data and building a well laid-out platform that makes navigation hassle-free.

Irrespective of the size of a client's company and its niche of operation, CryptoAPI can give that spark of development businesses need.

The decentralized infrastructure offer users access to Echo, Ethereum, and Litecoin. It also allows users to access detailed information on addresses through the cryptocurrency database, users can trace the internal transactions of a smart contract and receive firebase notifications for free and without a need to set up a server.

PixelPlex team of engineers regularly monitors the cryptocurrency market APIs and they ensure that the CryptoAPI remains competitive in the marketplace by upgrading its features to give users a maximum experience at all times. Some features that the company has added to CryptoAPI further engrain it as the best cryptocurrency API include the following; decentralized database clusters, Ethereum name service integration, bitcoin UTXO functionality implementation, built-in smart contract audit, and some other additions.

About PixelPlex

PixelPlex is a highly innovative blockchain-based solution provider that has contributed immensely to the advancement of blockchain technology and has developed apt technological systems that are needed for business growth.

Media Contact

PixelPlex

info@pixelplex.io

520 West 28th St.

Source : PixelPlex

See on IssueWire