California, Los Angeles, Apr 7, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Domitila Barros is one of the only personalities that promote green new solutions and sustainability on all levels. She has been an award-winning activist from UNESCO since 2000 and has created multiple initiatives for sustainable causes. As an experienced digital nomad and social entrepreneur she possessed lots of knowledge in the green social media realm and is now willing to share her expertise with the next generation of greenfluencers @GREENfluencer_network!

After migrating from Brazil to Germany to obtain her Master's degree, she worked as a consultant, digital nomad, and social entrepreneur. In 2017 she started her first Social entrepreneurship @sheisfromthejungle which is a social brand, centered around the economic integration of women. Doing business with a cause and meaningful impact is what the world needs in the 21st century. It is also what consumers are so desperately demands. It is time to create new solutions for business and consumption. For that matter, Domitila started doing sustainability coachings for corporations and startup companies.

With the @GREENfluencer_network she strives to inspire a new generation who want to use social media in a meaningful way, giving it a sustainable direction and impact while having fun online.

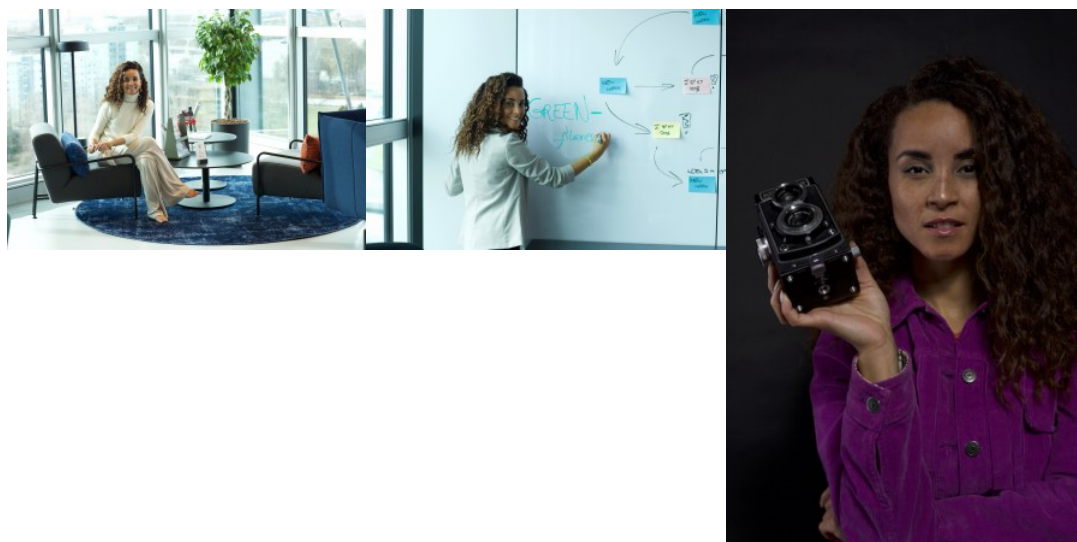

Coming from one of the poorest favelas of Brazil, Domitila Barros knows why social justice and sustainable solutions are so important. She knows what she is talking about when discussing inclusive and fair solutions for ALL and understands why sustainability plays a big part in it. Many companies nowadays engage in greenwashing and do not provide actual impact with their initiatives. Barros knows where to start and what is most important in establishing economic relations for everyone along the value chain to thrive. Sustainability encompasses more than just a green product. Sustainability is about inclusivity as well.
