

Triton Management Strengthens Australia / New Zealand Team

Japan, Tokyo, Apr 7, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Triton Management today announced the appointment of James Ogilvie as Client Director for its Australia & New Zealand wholesale business. James is based in Australia and will report directly to the Head of Asian Distribution, Eric Mathews and we can confirm that James will join Triton Management today.

In this role, James will focus on business development and servicing local-based clients together with Eric and the team. His appointment will further strengthen the Australia / New Zealand wholesale team and deepen relationships with financial institutions, family offices, private banks, wealth managers, discretionary fund managers, and advisers.

James has more than 13 years' experience in sales and distribution within Australia's asset management industry. He was previously Senior Vice President with a large Australian Group for five years, where he launched, led, and managed the firm's business unit focused on distribution strategies to financial institutions and intermediaries in Australia & New Zealand.
