

As Wales Experiences Rising Crime Kiax Security Points to the Value of Having Domestic CCTV Installed to Deter Burglars

The Covid-19 pandemic has been a major factor in causing crime to explode across Wales. Local electronic experts Kiax Security are presenting preventive solutions to their local community

United Kingdom, South Glamorgan, May 4, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - One shocking side effect of the Covid-19 pandemic in Wales has been what police are calling an “acceleration” and a shift in the “landscape of crime”. A good percentage of this shift has seen criminals preying on people’s homes with burglaries and similar dangerous crimes. Fortunately, local security experts Kiax Security have stepped up, providing valuable advice on how homes can better protect themselves from being caught up in these statistics. In that spirit, Kiax Security recently suggested one affordable and effective way to guard homes against burglars – by installing a domestic CCTV system. Based in South Wales, Kiax Security is a recognized authority in electronic security systems for domestic, commercial, and industrial businesses. The company serves South Wales, Cardiff, and the surrounding areas.

“A home CCTV is a wise investment to not only protect a family’s possessions but also to protect a family themselves,” commented a spokesperson from Kiax Security. “A number of different options are available. Contact us and let’s discuss what works best for your home or business.”

The company also offers burglar and intruder alarms, gates and barriers, access control and door entries, and much more.

Feedback for Kiax Security has been remarkably positive.

J.S., from Cardiff, recently said in a five-star review, “Hamid has provided an excellent service from start to finish. Kiax staff including Hamid are friendly, efficient, and knowledgeable. They took the time to understand our requirements and give us a choice of solutions. What I like the most is every time I call I get a warm welcoming and they are always there to help and answer enquires. I strongly recommend them and would definitely deal with them again.”
