

Bitclout Crypto Social Network: Get your own crypto coin.

Bitclout is a new social network that is decentralized and cryptocurrency-based. It is a social network that lets you earn money rather than spend it and you can invest in others via creator coin like our $hotrepublic coin.

British Columbia, Vancouver, May 5, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - While BitClout is a decentralized network, where there are no central authorities. BitClout is a cryptocurrency project that allows people to buy or sell non-fungible tokens to an automated market maker; the tokens are called "creator coins" and are bound to cryptographically secured accounts with unique names. Hot Republic would like to spread the word about the social media network and make it mainstream. We believe that the best part about BitClout is that you can not only earn money on its social network but also make investments in our coin or other influencer coins. It's time to bring this innovation into the sphere of social media and embrace this new approach to monetize your brand. This is definitely a fair system where people are rewarded, instead of being punished for making business deals.

How Hot Republic Corp. started with BitClout?

How Hot Republic got Started with its own $hotrepublic coin: How did you get into crypto? Our company started learning about crypto before bitcoin. "We were researching the idea of finding a social network where users could earn cryptocurrency just for sharing and posting content. We were introducing to this platform by Cassandra Riley Lynn @cassandrarilelyynn (INSTAGRAM ACCOUNT). I was introduced to the decentralized social network platform, and we knew we had found the perfect opportunity for this. To that point, we had been enjoying this new platform social media platform.

What does BitClout offer?

BitClout is the first decentralized social network with its own cryptocurrency. Its main goal is to give the best user experience and encourage people to make their online social media profile more interactive and fun.

Conclusion

The world has started to realize that cryptocurrencies are an opportunity, and there is no doubt that they have already begun to make a significant impact. In order to continue to achieve their goals, companies must innovate. This means that their technology investments must be genuine and innovative, and in the case of Bitclout, they have done just that.
