

Brent Emerson to launch his collection at North Carolina Fashion Week

North Carolina, Durham, May 19, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - North Carolina-based Fashion Designer Brent Emerson has launched the new collection at North Carolina Fashion Week. In this new collection, Emerson aims to grow his brand all through the state and will also be arranging fashion shows all through the country to advance the visibility of the brand.

Talking about the launch of his project, Brent Emerson in a speech said he has set his eyes on his fashion brand, which originally will be focusing on dresses of both men and women. He has journeyed far across several countries and carried out profound research before beginning the venture. He has key development plans and will be hosting fashion shows in several cities like Arizona.

The new collection of men and women by Brent offers a fashionable and changing range of dresses from casual t-shirts, comfortable shorts, hoodies, joggers, to casual and official dresses. The western wear assortment made by Emerson furnishes to women in all age groups. The budget-friendly cost of the Brent Emerson collection is motivated by the most excellent fashion style.

The clients would also have the freedom to get their clothes customized as per the fondness of fabric, style, and detailing. Brent plans to add to the number of sellers as the brand develops. He has also been seen persistently expanding the fashion category in the present times. The men's and women's collection has also been firm in launching several sales.

The tagline of clothing lines is apt for every man and woman who is all set to take on the world with fashion and wants to break free from the standard fashion. Along with the new collection, the brand has launched a pioneering digital campaign which entails the brand collaboration with influencers throughout the state to reach wider viewers.

Brent Emerson has also started his online portal which right now sells footwear, accessories, and clothes at a reasonable price. Brent is also searching to associate with other fashion e-commerce portals in the coming months to serve a wider spectator in the future. The stylish collection of new men and women dresses focuses on striking a perfect balance between stylish and casual dress perfect for each event. Apart from featuring contemporary easy silhouette, the brand new men and women dresses have also distinct accessories.

Media Contact

Brent Emerson

brentemerson.nc.arizona@gmail.com

Source : Brent Emerson Fashion

See on IssueWire