

Dhobi London provides affordable laundry services across London including areas like Knightsbridge

Where wash, dry, fold, repeat is no longer your business, but theirs

United Kingdom, London, May 24, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Professional dry-cleaning services have certainly gained a place of respect in the hectic lives of many urbanites and Dhobi London, is no exception. This family-run laundry business has since its inception, been facilitating the lives of numerous people across London, and removed the hassle of doing laundry.

This business provides personalised services aimed at bringing comfort to the lives of customers from across London, and they do so with a dedicated team that has a passion for dirty clothes and linen. They have even expanded their already comprehensive range of services to include clothing alterations, repairs, and tailoring.

To add further to the convenience, Dhobi London offers free collection and delivery of laundry, and all you have to do as a customer is book the service of your choice online on their website. It has never been easier to get your laundry done.

Environmental activists are particularly excited about the fact that Dhobi London also takes the environment into account when it comes to their cleaning products, which means they only use cleaning agents that have no negative impact on the environment. Therefore, they are also specialist cleaners of sensitive materials such as leather and suede.

“We provide laundry services to private individuals and corporate customers such as the hospitality industry in many areas of London, including Knightsbridge, Victoria, Pimlico, Clapham, Kensington, Westminster, Battersea, and South Lambeth. Our laundry services entail washing (cleaning), drying, folding, and ironing and you can trust us with your wedding gown, your suit, and even your expensive Egyptian linen,” said Adam, one of the managers from Dhobi London.

What they offer are superior laundry services that have been perfected by skill, expertise, and years of experience in the dry-cleaning industry. Their services save you time and effort so that you can pay attention to other, more essential aspects of your life, like family.

While some of their biggest clients in the hospitality industry are well-known hotels in and around London, every other customer, no matter how big or small his bundle of laundry may be, is important to Dhobi London. Dirty laundry is their business, and their passion is customer satisfaction – which combination ensures that your laundry is delivered clean and fresh time after time.
