Era'Nay's songs preserve a classic sound while adding a fresh vulnerability that is reminiscent of modern artists like H.E.R.

Era'Nay's unique perspective as a young woman navigating life comes through loud and clear in her songs, despite her introspective nature. She writes candidly about love and loss, questioning every thought and belief, in order to open the window for her most authentic self to shine through.

She has released several tracks with Carter's Music Group, and her latest single, "Farewell", is a stripped-down ballad that speaks to the grief so many of us are experiencing every year.

Era'Nay's passion to create timeless music, coupled with her awe-inspiring soul, are influential qualities that distinguish the Princess of R&B Soul. Era'Nay has an ardent desire for women's empowerment and equality in all facets of life. Era'Nay's impassioned soul led her to protest injustice for the murder of Breonna Taylor in her hometown of Louisville, KY

As music embodies her life, Era'Nay joined her labelmate releasing their Gospel song, "No Justice, No Peace" now playing on local radio. Era'Nay aligned with B96.5, for the "Say Their Name” campaign; recognizing those lives and names that have been lost, but not forgotten, as the inspiration for change, for all.

Era’Nay asserts herself as the Princess of R&B Soul as she charts her way through the male the dominated music industry. Era’Nay understands her music career will have instances of inequality as she champions through her career inspiring women globally to pursue their dreams.

Women’s empowerment is at the core of her soul. Era’Nay has the conviction that female empowerment is powerful and indispensable to world economic success, stability, and social change.

Through her music, she encourages “Girl Power” especially a woman’s self-worth, their ability to determine their own choices, and their right to influence social change for themselves and others.
