

New Patented Coupon Software Alerts Consumers for their Shopping

California, Los Angeles, May 11, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - As grocery shopping continues to rise Wayne Merry Founder of coupon alerting has added a specific feature that alerts not only the expiration dates of all coupons/offers but now alerts the app users of that coupon weekly. When the consumer is loading their liked coupons they simply indicate they would also like to be reminded weekly to coincide with their weekly shopping trips.

The beta testing identified that the users liked the reminder of the coupon(s) so they could purchase during their shopping.

Other existing features like BOGO alerting, "My Flyer Checker", "My Shopping List" and the original patented expiration alerting are now making the app easier to save consumers money. The app works this way. The consumer simply loads in their preferred offers expiration date, promo code, and even the retailer's online website link so they can even order online. Then the app sends them alerts a couple of times before they expire. Plus the consumer can also check the app upon visiting the store which will highlight and remind them to purchase in-store.

The added feature blends well with the warranty alerting also within the app's platform. Merry is seeking coupon distributors to partner with.

Please go through the link :

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=X5nmIPi4TO8>

Please go through the link : <https://ownmyideas.wixsite.com/coupondistributors>

Media Contact

Wayne Merry

takinguviral@gmail.com

Source : My HipSmart

See on IssueWire