

Plan the Best Renovation Ideas For Your Home with Renopedia's Platform

Singapore, Singapore, May 29, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Renopedia is one of the most effective and engaging online portals enabling homeowners to digitally design their dream homes through various tips, ideas, innovation, and inspirations in the scope of interior designing. Based out of Singapore, the company is partnered with over 300 interior design companies and 50 home renovation merchants to give you the optimum solutions for your future home.

For any queries regarding home renovation ranging from materials to interior design samples, Renopedia provides it all. Their library consists of thousands of images, blogs, and videos to give insightful knowledge regarding new ideas for your home. Their specialty home interior design styles include modern, industrial, Scandinavian, Victorian, and contemporary to cater to the personal taste of a varied stream of clients.

The Renopedia team has been involved in the home renovations industry for over 10 years. Their experience in working with various contractors and designers in Singapore has helped them substantialize a niche for the best services. Their accomplishment lies in providing interior design guidance across a wide range of budgets. The website has received more than a million weekly visitors and over 700K weekly engagements. Their popularity on social media also provides an introduction to their expansive service league. With 160K and 50K followers on Facebook and Instagram respectively that comprise about 90% of Singaporeans, they have achieved their goals as one of the best in the industry. A community of over 50,000 homeowners on Renopedia will inspire you to design your dream abode. Click on <https://renopedia.sg/contact/> for free renovation quotes.

James Soh, the founder of Renopedia proudly announces the success of the company leading to immense customer satisfaction. He says, “We are not the first renovation platform in Singapore, but we are the newest, youngest, fastest-growing and now the number one online renovation media.”

Renopedia is the first choice when it comes to online interior designing, planning, and renovation in all of Singapore. Over the years, they have built a community of designers, contractors, and homeowners to provide the best guidance for building and designing a home according to one’s tastes. For more information, visit <https://renopedia.sg/>.

Media Contact

Renopedia

info@renopedia.com.sg

Source : Renopedia

See on IssueWire