

Real Dogs Prefer These Dog Coins Instead of Dogecoin

California, Anaheim, May 7, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - While online sports sites are taking bets on whether or not Elon Musk will mention Dogecoin during Saturday Night Live on May 8th, Jackboy's Dog Bakery is betting that the real dogs are going to drool all over their version of Dog Coin treats that are fresh baked and hand decorated to delight their humans as well. How many Jackboy's Dog Coin can you buy with the current rate of a Dogecoin? "That will be three Dogecoins for one cookie please", said Athena Yap, the Owner and head canine chef of Jackboy's Dog Bakery.

Musk's frequent meme tweets about Dogecoin have reliably caused the price of the "joke" cryptocurrency to rise, now closing to $1 per coin from just merely $0.01 in January this year. Is it possible that the self-proclaimed "Dogefather" Elon Musk knows something that we don't? It is unclear how much Musk's social media activity has impacted the longer-term gains of the coin but one thing for sure, the real dogs are going to take bites after bites of those scrumptious carob honey-flavored Dog Coin treats from this boutique dog bakery out in Southern California long after SNL airing.
