

Sarkari Helpline will sanitize slums of Delhi : Vaibhav Mishra

India, Delhi, May 17, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Sarkari Helpline (Sarkarihelpline.com), the country's well-known telephone directory website, has decided to take sanitation in the slums of Delhi, taking another step in view of the corona infection. Earlier, the corona of Delhiites was helping people by increasing the help for home collection for related tests and also providing ration to the needy.

Vaibhav Mishra, Director of Sarkari Helpline, said that “In this great transition period everybody is helping each other, but this time the situation is more frightening than ever. The only way to deal with this situation is to stop infection, so we have decided that sanitation will be done in all the slums and clusters of Delhi, which will help to some extent in preventing infection there. There are many organizations that are distributing rations and other essential materials to these poor people, but basic problems like cleanliness are ignored. By far the biggest weapon to prevent corona infection is cleanliness and proper social distancing. This is the category, that is least thought of and is also deprived of facilities.

Vaibhav Mishra further said that to implement this scheme, a list of slum chiefs and cluster heads is being prepared and apart from this, local leaders associated with various political parties are also being sought, so that any slum areas should not be deprived of sanitation. There are more than 650 slum clusters in Delhi, in which more than 2 lakh families live. I hope that almost all the identified places will be sanitized within the next 2 months. The Sarkari helpline will bear the full expenditure of this work.
