Creative freedom is essential for moving forward with time and creating layers of newness by using the same components of music. The emerging freestyle rapper The Prophet has understood the core formula of winning the game. The race to the throne is not easy for the indie artist; he has to compete and hustle every day to prove his unwavering zeal for music-making. His struggles in the music industry have made him tough. He drives his passion in the same direction since he started to make sense. Now, the industry has started to recognize his capability with the fresh music release ‘Midwest \(Chicago Freestyle\)’. He released the new song on YouTube on March 18, 2021. The Prophet is an iconic street rapper who has been making music for the last few years. His musical grinding has inspired many souls who forgot to dream. He dreams every day with his eyes open because he knows how to beat the negativity of the darkness in his mind. He has been making songs about depression, loneliness, and separation for a while. Now he has seen the light at the end of the tunnel with the new hit single ‘Midwest (Chicago Freestyle)’ released on YouTube. He is standing on the verge of an epiphany with the lyrical grandeur of the song. He changes his direction from a reckless songwriter to a mature rapper at lightning speed. He tributes to the people who live in the Midwest city and captures the best versions of the city with real stories shared through his poetic rhymes. It draws appeal for the organic riff melody that gradually takes the shape of an emotive, musically engaging word flow. His overwhelming hustling stories have created an impact on the audience immediately they played its hooks.

The young and indie rapper wants to become a brand that soothes every mind. He wants to make a long-lasting connection with a wide audience so that people finally get to distinguish between authenticity and mainstream publicity.
