

Gem Shadou Teen Girls Release their 3rd Song I'm Alive

Ontario, Toronto, Jun 7, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Gem Shadou – I'm Alive

Toronto, ON – With the success of their previous two singles; The Crappy Song, and What's Going On, thirteen-year-old twins Cece and Joce are set to release the socially challenging single; I'm Alive. Under the group name, Gem Shadou; Cece, and Joce are tackling rich social issues which may seem beyond their reach, yet with poignant maturity and deep reflection, they rise to the challenge. I'm Alive is a branch out for this multi-genre group, as the sisters tackle a rock, alternative type feel to express the feelings of love, joy, and helping others in need.

"Take this world let's clean it up, and let the world overflow with love, Give those in need a helping hand, Everyone in need can use a friend".

Gem Shadou sisters, Cece and Joce pride themselves on their songwriting process, utilizing a vast selection of instrumentation performed by the girls. Featuring piano, guitar, and ukulele, and other instruments; I'm Alive is highlighted by the harmonizing vocals and expressive key changes which help drive a theme of importance and compelling subject matter.

Performances of What's Going On are eagerly being scheduled as the restrictions surrounding COVID-19 are being lifted.

Gem Shadou has been featured at the Afro Caribbean Cultural Festival, the Toronto Caribbean Carnival Festival in 2020 Embracing Culture, the Big Brothers and Big Sisters Gala Celebration in 2020, Reggae to Reggae Radio and Television in Jamaica, as well as many other festivals, parties, and television appearances.

Available June 11 at 3:00 pm EST on YouTube, I'm Alive will be released alongside a captivating lyric video.
