

Get the Best Home Decor Products with PCY's Online 3D Exhibition

California, Los Angeles, Jun 17, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - PCY is an online 3D home decor exhibition that launched on June 1 that is changing the way product purchasing has been perceived over the years. The concept came into being during the global lockdown owing to COVID that resulted in the closing down of physical stores around the world.

COVID's effect on international trade and trade fairs like the Canton Fair has caused a reduction in both supply and demand. From negatively affecting the trade of importing and exporting countries to the downfall in business across industries, the impact has been significant and is still going on. Various expos around the world were cancelled owing to the situation which resulted in many companies selling non-essential items suffering substantial losses in their business. However, given the uncertainty of the situation, online expos as organized by PCY show the possibility of reviving even from the lowest points.

The turbulent situation led to difficulty in sourcing new products. Recovering the supply chain can be attempted by creating transparency, estimating available inventory, accessing realistic final-customer demand, optimizing production and distribution capacity, identifying and securing logistics capacity, and manage cash and net working capital through various improvements in the strategies and workflow. The aim is to create a resilient system that will help in reviving business in the future as well.

With PCY Online, you get exclusive access to 30,000 brand new products in 100 different showrooms from 36 industry-leading home décor factories. In order to navigate the expo, all you have to do is just click and drag to look and move around the virtual store and click on the showroom entrance to request access or see that factory's products. You will also be able to get product quotes whenever needed by simply generating an email quote request. You can register with PCY Expo for the smartest and most convenient shopping experience from the comfort of your home office. They also provide one-to-one customer service to guide you through all your queries. Registration is open and showroom approvals are already being sent out.

Boilerplate:

PCY Online is a virtual expo and online event provider specializing in home décor and furniture. PCY has many years of experience with suppliers, wholesalers and retailers worldwide. PCY Online is committed to helping buyers connect with and smoothly do business minimizing risk and maximizing retailer margins.

Media Contact

PCY

info@pcy-online.com

Source : PCY

See on IssueWire