Talented Ghanaian artist, Aakosya, shows how artists can impact their communities beyond the music by throwing her weight behind the Juneteenth Celebration

Aakosya has grown to become a leading name in the Afrobeats and Urban entertainment industry, especially in the music sector. The songstress recently showed that musicians can make real-life impacts outside music by endorsing the Fort Worth Juneteenth Celebration.

Aakosya has consistently demonstrated her creativity and ingenuity with words, making thought-provoking yet entertaining songs that have endeared her to millions of good music lovers across the globe. Over the years, she has used her musical talent as a tool to push for positive cultural changes and recently took her cause a notch higher by supporting Juneteenth and Ms. Opal.

In a related development, Aakosya sang the Black National Anthem at the 2020 Juneteenth Flag raising which captured a moment in Ms. Opal's photo seen in Ms. Opal Lee's Global NIKE Picture. Global NIKE sponsored the 2020 Opal's Walk, and with NIKE celebrating our country eventually making Juneteenth a national holiday, their example led to hundreds of companies following suit.

This talented singer and songwriter conducted an interview presented by VIPsocio's for their #1000Black Entrepreneurs campaign, which featured several black entrepreneurs across different industries for a month-long campaign. She was confirmed to perform at this year's festival, alongside other talented A-list artists from across the world.

Aakosya has shown her versatility over the years as a singer, songwriter, actress, and entertainer. Her debut album titled "Fourth Sunday" brought her into the limelight. Over the years, the entrepreneur, international recording artist, and podcast host went on to use her lyrical strength to impact the lives of millions of people worldwide.

The forthcoming Juneteenth Celebration will be an opportunity for millennials and lovers of good music to support the cause, see Aakosya in person at the festival, and sign the Juneteenth petition on www.opalswalk2dc.com.
