Covenant HealthCare is dedicated to physician training and education and provides this important service at all levels in answer to community and regional health care needs. Many of their 500 physicians provide clinical education and training to resident physicians. Covenant HealthCare also serves as a training site for students pursuing other careers in the healthcare field.

Academically, Dr. Panchal earned her medical degree from the NHL Municipal Medical College in Ahmedabad, India. After relocating to the United States, she went on to complete her residency in internal medicine at the East Tennessee State University James H. Quillen College of Medicine, and her fellowship in endocrinology, diabetes, and metabolism at the Albert Einstein Medical Center.

Licensed to practice medicine in Michigan, the doctor is board-certified in endocrinology, diabetes, and metabolism & internal medicine by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

Endocrinology is a branch of biology and medicine dealing with the endocrine system, its diseases, and its specific secretions known as hormones. Endocrinologists have the training to diagnose and treat hormone imbalances and problems by helping to restore the normal balance of hormones in the body. The common diseases and disorders of the endocrine system that endocrinologists deal with include diabetes mellitus, as well as adrenal, pituitary, and thyroid disorders, among others.
