

Ignite Social Impact Launches First Cohort of Social Enterprises Tackling United Nations Sustainable Development Goals

Maryland, Bethesda, Jun 18, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Ignite Social Impact (“Ignite”), a funding portal registered with the SEC and FINRA, has launched its first cohort of impact-focused issuers. Ignite’s first cohort will be leveraging crowdfunding with the goal of addressing hunger, minority businesses, plastic pollution, as well as women’s health and period poverty. Ignite is the first funding portal to focus exclusively on impact investing opportunities.

The Ignite team developed a due diligence framework, inspired by the Impact Management Project and the IFC Operating Principles, to select the most impactful projects addressing the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Ignite is actively onboarding additional issuers in the health tech, education, and clean energy fields. Discover the causes we care about at:

Rosemarie Truman, Co-Founder, and CEO of Ignite Social Impact said, “Our team has worked countless hours to review companies that truly have a significant, sustainable, positive impact. I’m proud of the companies we are working with to realize their goals. Ignite is democratizing impact investing, and the first cohort we have illustrates the breakthroughs made by startups that can shift the boundaries of equity, diversity, inclusion and belonging and are pillars and scaffolding in the architecture of good.”

To apply for an opportunity to raise up to $5 million or test the waters through Ignite, private US companies should submit the form at <http://bitly.com/ignitesimpact>.

To become an impact investor on Ignite, anyone can sign up at <https://invest.ignitesocialimpact.com/>, and invest at least $100 in a Reg CF offering.
