Rajasthan, Jaipur, Jun 22, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - The Festival of Rakhi or Rakshabandhan in India denotes the love bond between siblings. The festival of Siblinghood usually occurs in the month of August or on the Shravan's month last day. On this auspicious occasion brothers and sisters gather at a place to celebrate Rakshabandhan in joy and enthusiasms. Creative and designer Rakhis and mouth-watering sweets are always the charms of the festival. On this auspicious day, the sister ties Rakhi to the hand of their brother, and in turn, the brother gives the promise to safeguard their sister. However, this is mainly the festival of Hinduism but the bond of siblinghood is celebrated among other religions too. Not only in India, but the festival of Rakhi is also celebrated with enthusiasm in almost every corner of the world.

However, with the advent of modernization, life becomes hectic and people don't get enough time to celebrate the festival together. The time and distance limitation can be a barrier in this festival of love between siblings. Sister had to search the busy market during the covid era to choose the best Rakhi for their brothers in India. Moreover, they had to look for the best courier options that help in sending the parcel of happiness to her brother. This whole process is quite time-consuming and also costing more than expected. Also, in the Covid era of surfing, the busy market can be a bit dangerous. So, a Jaipur-based startup, Rakhisale.com helping people in avoiding the distance barrier.
