

Tastemaker Chad Mercer Gains Global Exposure

New York, New York City, Jun 12, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Emerging Food Network personality and tastemaker, Chad Mercer is being tapped with opportunities this summer, as well as through the holiday season.

Chad is currently working with the renowned Italian grocer, EATLAY - working with locations in Las Vegas, Chicago, and Dallas this summer to deliver the top-notch food quality that guests demand. He will also be present in Myrtle Beach, SC judging the 54th World's Chili Cook-Off in September along with attending meetings with Atlantic Coast restaurateurs. From there, he travels to El Paso to participate in the International Food Bloggers Conference where he will meet with the nation's largest food bloggers and personalities.

The capstone to the year comes in November where he has been tapped to judge the World Food Championships in Dallas, Texas.

The world of hospitality is roaring back and he is making his mark as the newest Tastemaker crisscrossing the globe finding the very best of the best in the world of food and wine.

Chad is rapidly growing his reach and exposure, as one of the best emerging food critics and tastemakers in the world. If you are interested in his global palate that serves the best recommendations of food and wine, make sure to follow his social media handles, AChadChoice on Facebook and Instagram.
