

The World's First Muscle Car NFT, Now on Mintable!

Make history and own the first ever recorded muscle car on the blockchain.

California, Los Angeles, Jun 20, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Purchase the first muscle car NFT and make history! Buying a car is no big deal, but what makes purchasing a car NFT so special? One key feature is that every transaction is recorded on the Ethereum blockchain and exists as a proof of ownership. Various items have been sold as NFTs; but this is the first time a drivable muscle car has been minted as one! The NFT, which includes the physical Ford Mustang 2008 GT, is available for purchase on Mintable.

This is the first time in history that a drivable muscle car is put up for sale as an NFT. The Ford Mustang is an iconic American automobile which has been in production since 1964. A reliable and classic vehicle, the car included in the NFT has been kept in the garage and can be used to go on regular drives for road trips or supercharged to gain extra HP.

In addition to making history of purchasing the first ever muscle car NFT, with the unique transaction recorded on the blockchain, the vehicle itself is of high quality and has not seen the race track. The car, painted in a delightful grabber blue original Ford Mustang color, is ready to hit the road with its stock engine clocking in about 70,000 miles. Located and registered in south-east Europe, it has been serviced regularly and is in top condition. Papers for maintenance work (such as oil changes) will also be included in the NFT as proof of maintenance.

For those interested from the United States, think about how cool it would be to have this Mustang repatriated. Details will be worked out with the seller of the listing to ensure a smooth sailing experience in purchasing this one-of-a-kind NFT. You'll be sure to enjoy this muscle car as it was meant to be!
