Sarjapur is home to Wipro, HP, Accenture, Cisco, KPMG, and other well-known IT firms. Employment opportunities are increasing, drawing a rising number of skilled workers to the city, as the number of companies and entrepreneurs grows at an exponential pace, with much more on the way.

Since you are searching for a rental, 2 and 3 BHK houses are in high trend because they are near to several IT firms and workplaces all across Sarjapur Road. When you're considering buying, understand that the area is always on the rise, and sales are projected to increase in the near future.

All things considered, Bangalore real estate is still doing better than other major cities like Mumbai and Delhi. People would prefer buying villas or independent houses with gates for better security, and ensure social distancing norms are being followed.

Parents need the same kind of encouragement as their kids. If you don't feel up for it, your kids won't either. Children are like sponges, they absorb the energy around them, and to be their role model, you need them to watch you going through the tasks the same way you'd want to watch them when they are adults.

Hence, choosing to invest in either apartments or villas are some of the decisions you will live with as a parent. Monetarily, the investment should encourage indoor as well as outdoor activities for you and your kids. Since you are growing old and your kids are going through their development years.
