

Thirdrock Systems Opens New Strategic Office In The Vancouver Area

With this opening, the Canadian tech company intends to expand its work capabilities to better serve local government.

California, San Diego, Jun 23, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - The technology company ThirdRock Systems which focuses on providing custom web development and software solutions for government agencies in North America, announces the opening of a new strategic office in the Greater Vancouver area. This new Maple Ridge location is part of the company's accelerated west coast growth strategy to increase capabilities and service to all levels of government throughout the province and Western Canada.

Located at 22420 Dewdney Trunk Road, the office is positioned for easy access to the Lougheed Highway in five minutes by car as well as direct access to both area International Airports and downtown Vancouver.

The primary goal is not only to accommodate additional staff but to improve the level of the service the tech firm offers to federal, provincial, and municipal agencies in BC. This new space is designed to utilize both shared and open spaces to promote communication, the latest hygiene protocols and facilitate cooperation throughout the ThirdRock Systems team.

"We have had an interesting year, so every day we are pushing ourselves further to tackle more ambitious projects," said Chris Allen, Director of Business Development for ThirdRock Systems. "Expanding our space so we have a local connection with our agency clients is a logical decision to make if we want to increase our production capabilities"
