

“Are We Ready For A World Without Doctors?”

Ilesh Khakhkhar Appeals A Mass To Think About It!

Gujarat, Rajkot, Jul 2, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - The rising cases of assaults and inhuman acts on doctors in India caused great distress to Mr. Ilesh Khakhkhar, an entrepreneur and philanthropist by heart. With more than 25 years of experience as a marketing expert in the dermatology industry, he could not bear the pain of increasing negativity against doctors. He realized that the only way to stop the spread of negativity is to raise awareness amongst the general public. This very thought made him initiate an online campaign where he produced a short documentary film and released it on a day before National Doctor's Day, 1st July 2021.

This film showcases how modern medicine has advanced since ancient times, the remarkable contributions made by doctors, the unexpected truths about life as a doctor, their contributions during this pandemic, and above all the harsh reality of violence caused against doctors in India. It concludes with a plea to stop the violence against doctors and a pledge taken by Ilesh Khakhkhar.

“It took a month to film this documentary from scratch and I wanted the viewers to connect at a deeper emotional level with the film so it had to be produced with diligence. I and my team have worked round the clock and tried our level best to pass on this message in the betterment of our society” says Mr. Ilesh Khakhkhar after the successful outcome of the campaign. This film was released on 30th June through popular social media platforms Like YouTube, Facebook, and Instagram by Ilesh Khakhkhar. It received an overwhelming response from a mass with 1K views within just one hour of publishing. Comments started pouring in with people supporting this noble cause and the film soon went viral.
