

Australian artist O'Neill Fernandes' latest album 'Mother's Love' offers a glimpse into his amazing creativity

The talented instrumentalist and producer, O'Neill Fernandes unveils his deepest feelings through the 20 masterpieces of his most recent album, 'Mother's Love'.

Perth, Osborne Park, Jul 9, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - The established self-taught Australian musician O'Neill Fernandes has been an integral part of the world pop music industry for years. He has released his most challenging and finest album, 'Mother's Love' on top streaming platforms. This 20-track collection is his proud 25th album in his career. The name of the album is derived from a collection of songs in his playlist. Both his mother and late mother-in-law loved it. He dedicated the album to them and all the mothers around the world. The main artists he has focused on the album are Billy Vaughn, Max Gregor, Perez Prado, Burt Kaempfert, The Ventures and The Shadows, and James Last.

The brilliant pop music artist from Perth's passion for music let him indulge as a part-time mobile DJ (8 years) whilst he was in his professional career. After retiring from the corporate world, he took up learning to play the guitar and also producing his own music. Every album he makes, his instrumental, producing, and track mixing skills become more sharp and polished. The highlight of the album is two songs, 'Bilitis' and 'La Paloma'. The second one, originally by Billy Vaughn was his late mother-in-law's favorite. His incredible rendition of both songs has left the global music industry in awe. He has embedded his distinctive flavor in the rhythmic pattern of the symphony.

The multi-talented musician covers many genres and artists to widen his thematic spectrum. His latest album, 'Mother's Love' is a major divergence from his usual style. O'Neill Fernandes has featured a song called 'Heart of Gold', originally by Neil Young dedicated to his mom. He included the song, Lorena, originally by Achi De Lario for his late sister Lorraine. He included the song, Lorena, originally by Achi De Lario for his late sister Lorraine. He renamed the song according to the purpose. All the songs in the album are very close to his heart. Follow him on SoundCloud, Facebook, and YouTube for more updates.
