CRDG TO WORLD STAGE: NEW HQ AT 1 WORLD TRADE CENTER

Coral Reef Development Group LLC announces its new corporate headquarters at 1 World Trade Center in Long Beach, CA.

Coral Reef Development Group LLC (“CRDG”) has been attracting high praise and attention with its recent expansion; from acquiring and rebranding Coral Reef Energy Systems, to its latest transition to the 1 World Trade Center in Long Beach, CA as of September 1, 2021.

The 1 World Trade Center is a 574,981 sq. ft., 4-star LoopNet rated property, with longstanding ties to the city. This new home for Coral Reef will be instrumental as it deepens its connection with Los Angeles County, the nation, and abroad —providing clean energy and infrastructure development, community outreach, and equally important job creation.

“Our transition to the World Trade Center concerns more than a new location – it’s symbolized our mission to revolutionize our company and establish a deeper connection with our base,” CEO Romulo De León stated. “Our relocation allows us a unique opportunity to improve our communication and engagement with our community and our international clientele, while providing high-quality services and positive change. We are extremely excited to take the next steps to add value to our community, country, and world.”

CRDG is a Long Beach, California-based Development company established to bring innovative technology and clean energy to consumers and international development projects.
