

Artius Man Launches Their Autumn Spice Beard Care Line For The Season

Fall is in the air and Artius Man has its Autumn Spice beard care ready!

Ohio, Columbus, Sep 14, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - With the changing of the season, so does Artius Man. For those who have been waiting for it to be Fall before using their Autumn Spice Beard Oil, now is your chance. The beard oil has the distinct smell of the season, and to quote from Artius Man's website, "The smell of the kitchen inspires this seasonal oil in late October and November. Hints of cinnamon, vanilla, Tonka, and spice fill this beard oil."

Artius Man products are scented with natural ingredients. They use jojoba oil, apricot kernel oil, Vitamin E oil, and pumpkin seed oil in their beard care products.

Along with the Pumpkin Spice Beard Oil, they are also released Pumpkin Spice scent in their beard balm, beard butter, beard shampoo, and beard conditioner. Each of these products has been a fan favorite during the fall season in previous years.

Each year around this time, Artius Man begins prepping this special seasonal batch. This is a process that all of their products go through before they are activated live on their website. They say that it is worth the wait and that you can expect to see your favorite product during this season every year.

Artius Man knows that some people prefer to use more than one beard care product at once, so they offer seasonal scents in all beard care products.

The new Artius Man product line will be available on their website beginning sometime in mid-September! They currently have no intention of releasing this scent anywhere outside of their website. Though, they may offer it to their wholesale customers. This seasonal blend will be removed from their website sometime near the end of fall and before the beginning of winter.

You can find these products by going to www.artiusman.com, and specifically for the Pumpkin Spice scents, you can find them at:
