Carondelet Medical Group believes a patient relationship is a partnership that spans a lifetime and that two-way communication is the key to good health. The distinguished network of physicians is committed to providing patients with outstanding care and service at every encounter. They invite patients and their families to be a part of the care team, as equal members in the decision-making and treatment process, ensuring a positive and hassle-free experience with personalized attention from the moment they walk through the door.

Committed to excellence in family care, Dr. Berjaoui's specialties include family medicine (children & adults), chronic disease management, disease prevention, geriatrics, global health, integrative medicine, and women's health. He is board-certified through the American Board of Family Medicine, whose mission is to improve the health of the public through Board Certification, Residency Training, Research, Leadership Development, and promoting the development of the specialty of Family Medicine.

With a broad educational background, Dr. Berjaoui earned his Bachelor of Science degree from McGill University in 2010. He then went on to attend medical school at St. George's University, graduating with his medical degree in 2016. Wanting to further his knowledge, he completed his residency in family medicine at the University of Arizona College of Medicine -Tucson (South Campus) in 2019.

"I chose South Campus FM residency for its unique focus on rural medicine, global health tract, integrative medicine tract, and the opportunity of working in a community hospital in an academic setting and providing service to the underserved. Most importantly, meeting the residents and faculty confirmed my decision to want to come to this program" as stated by the doctor.

A member of the American Academy of Family Physicians and the American Medical Student Association, Dr. Berjaoui has managed numerous clinical research trials, presented at educational conferences, and has been awarded the "Faculty Undergraduate Student Research Award". In addition, he has earned sub-specialty certifications in global health and integrative medicine.

Family medicine is a medical specialty devoted to comprehensive health care for people of all ages. The specialist is called a family physician or family doctor. A family physician is often the first person a patient sees when seeking healthcare services. They examine and treat patients with a wide range of conditions and refer those with serious ailments to a specialist or appropriate facility.

On a more personal note, Dr. Berjaoui's favorite places to vacation are Europe, Africa, New Zealand, and the Caribbean. Outside of practicing medicine, he enjoys hiking, camping, running, cycling, doing yoga, traveling, and cooking. He is fluent in English, French, and Arabic.
