India, Delhi, Sep 29, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Indian market is dominated by different foreign eCommerce platforms right now. Grandia presents India's next-gen eCommerce site that is purely made in India and for the people of India. The site is bringing an incredible online shopping experience for the buyers curating a fresh mix of products from every industry and category. The shoppers are served with high-quality merchandise from the top brands at unbelievable prices. Their ever-changing library of products is already satisfying craves of the young Indian shoppers. The site is extremely user-friendly and the features are quite easy to navigate, offering a smooth browsing experience for the visitors.

Grandia comes equipped with its own wallet, which is extremely safe and secure to use. The company is offering a 30% cashback to the buyers when they purchase with its wallet. The shoppers need to first recharge their wallets and then make a purchase with the wallet balance. They can get their hands on the 30% cashback when they recharge their DTH, prepaid mobile, postpaid bill, and more transactions. It is highly profitable for shoppers who are looking for a quality product without burning a big hole in their pockets. The online transaction on the platform is secure with the most advanced transaction security technologies and measures.

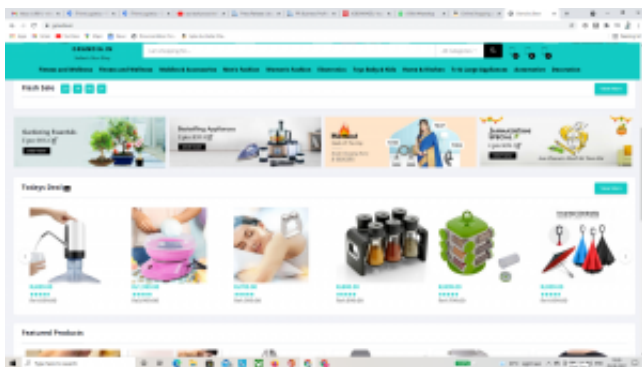

The website is open for sellers of all scales. Businesses can get access to the huge traffic on their website and get immense online exposure and audience engagement to their products. They can easily create a separate identity for their brand by selling their products on the site. Interested sellers can register with the website and make a huge profit within a short time. They can become an official seller on the site in just three steps. First, they need to register on the website. Next, they must add the catalog of their product. The last step is to sell their items online through the site. The sellers will be able to sell all over India and receive their payments quicker than other similar services.

The sellers just need to provide the image and description of the products to the site and Grandia will do all the uploading work. All that the sellers need to do is to pack their products in the packaging material provided by the company. The shipping process and charges are taken care of by the site. The sellers need to follow the policies created by the company to do business smoothly.

The website has an arranged category for different products. The products range from men's fashion and women's fashion to electronics, toys, baby products, and more. They are well-equipped with the latest mobile phones and their accessories. The buyers can avail of the high discount on every category and acquire their desired products at the lowest prices compared to other similar sites. They also offer discounts and offers on different festive seasons, attracting a vast number of buyers instantly. The Featured Products section on the site offers an unbelievable amount of discounts on selected products from different categories.

The shoppers need to create their own account on the site using their email. They need to put their delivery address and phone number in their account for smooth delivery of products. The buyers can put items they like in their wishlist and visit them anytime they want through their personal accounts. They can also track the orders they have made after they are dispatched. One can check their order history to keep track of the orders they have made in the past. All these functions are easy to access with their brilliant website. The shoppers can pay securely to finish the order. They promise to deliver as soon as possible all over India.
