Ontario, Toronto, Sep 2, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Grid Communications is proud to be named as one of the top 30 Instagram marketing companies in Canada by DesignRush.

DesignRush helps to connect brands with full-service agencies, digital marketing firms, top technology companies, and web design companies, providing a full B2B marketplace. It lists more than 9,300 agencies from over 50 countries.

"We are thrilled to be named among the top 30 Instagram marketing agencies in Canada," says Grid Communications founder Raul Lince. "The competitive market in a major city like Toronto is always tough, and our dedicated team of professionals has the skills and knowledge to get the job done. This award shows that we are passionate about Instagram marketing while putting our client partners first."

Grid Communications has been steadily expanding its company presence online through building and redesigning websites, social media, photography, and videography and targeting consumers to build awareness, even over the course of the COVID-19 pandemic.

For social media such as Instagram, it focuses on audience development and persona modeling to help build a dedicated customer base and a consistent approach to social media communications. The team helps identify opportunities while keeping in mind the needs of the business and optimizing growth.

Its team of web designers is entirely based within the greater Toronto area, helping provide relevant local knowledge to small, medium, and national businesses while developing best-in-class web design, SEO solutions, and web development. They are experienced with WordPress, Shopify, and a range of other content management systems and can help you identify the right tool for your needs.

The company has partnered with K9 Plus, Toronto's premier dog walking service; Pur & Simple, a national breakfast chain; Lederhaus, a premium leather goods line; Wilnocon, an e-commerce brand; and DustFreeMaids, a local cleaning service, among others. It also maintains a five-star rating on UpCity, a website providing connections and reviews on digital marketing businesses.
