

Ms. Donna L. Quesinberry of Donnalnk Publications, L.L.C. announces new fall books, radio, and television line-up

Donnalnk Publications, L.L.C. feature book titles are conjoining with new radio programming and television programming while supporting long-standing and newly emerging authors from over nine countries and five continents who share eclectic works

District of Columbia, Washington, D.C, Sep 15, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Donnalnk Publications, L.L.C. extends diverse bookshelves with ten (10) genre-centric imprints housing thirty (30) plus authors who arrive at www.donnaink.com from over nine (9) countries and five (5) continents to produce their eclectic and/or noteworthy titles for readers reached through organic growth coupled with industry-recognized marketing and promotion. As Donnalnk Founder and President, Ms. Donna L. Quesinberry resumes new title releases (after a COVID draw-down in 2020 impacting early 2021) and also announces her newest endeavor, The Donnalnk Book Show airing weekday afternoons on Faces of Rap Mothers®™ Television Network on Roku beginning 1 October 2021 during the 3:00 to 4:00 p.m. time slot.

Segments such as "A Book Journey", "Title on Location", "Author Insight", etc. include unrepresented authors and the publishing houses represented authors based on the listener (reader) interest and industry awareness. Programs centered on books, processes, writing, authors, and entertainers, book development, locations of interest, how-to's, new title releases, poets in action, etc. are forthcoming covering sub-topics such as inspiration, coaching, scriptwriting to film-making, etc. for over 50 million national and international accessible viewers. Ms. Quesinberry extends special thanks to [Candy Strother DeVore-Mitchell](http://CandyStrother DeVore-Mitchell), Faces of Rap Mothers®™ Television Network Owner (and Donnalnk Publication's resident author of the Faces of Rap Mothers®™ multi-series books), and states, "Candy Strother DeVore-Mitchell is enigmatic and this is not cliché. A wife, mother, advocate, historian, torchbearer, author, and entertainer . . . now Television Network Owner . . . Candy demonstrates her appreciation through acts of kindness and inclusion while she continuously grows her IDEA to celebrate Rap Mothers®™, which held limited interest at its onset until she made it "of interest" to everyone who enfolds into her vision and ever-expanding and new horizons through inclusion. Thank you Candy for keeping your word and staying the course and being a good associate, author, and friend."

Streaming radio (both with imagery and soundtracks) are intended to augment "The Donnalnk Book Show" and the addition of Mr. Tom Saputo (performance artist, music-recording engineer, visual artist, and educator) extending his talents to Donnalnk Publications authors at reduced rates ensures more audiobook arrangements and recordings in support of the publishing house's audiobook platform expansion. The publisher's advent audiobook "Quarantina" by Author Wayne Tatum, currently featured on Audible.com, transports listeners (aka readers) in an engaging journey where Tatum's quodlibet is performed in a nostalgic satire reminiscent of Old Time Radio. Saputo and Tatum deliver an entirely new level of audiobook presentation making Tatum's "Quarantina" a desirable audio experience to accompany his well-received print and eBook renditions.
