

Rising Success Story Equals Unlikely Homeowners

With today's crazy market making the buying experience difficult for new potential homebuyers, one company is quickly becoming recognized for helping new buyers reach their dreams.

Texas, San Antonio, Sep 13, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - One, rather young, company Heartis Real Estate Group is already making strides within the housing market of San Antonio. With just two years as a company, they have helped place homebuyers into millions of dollars worth of homes, many of which felt it could not have been possible. Residents such as Mike, now homeowner, who had already experienced one realty company that dashed his dreams of becoming a homeowner, met with Isaac Gerami, REALTOR® at Heartis Real Estate Group, and quickly had the sense that it was possible. Mike attributes his current status as a single father has been able to buy into the American Dream as being made possible through Heartis Real Estate Group.

In talking to Isaac, we learned that his company has established tools and partnerships to stand up to this crazy housing market and produce homeowners out of unlikely individuals experiencing various situations. They have the ability to bring buyers to the market as competitive homebuyers, at the same time they still work tirelessly to protect their financial futures when guiding them towards making the right decisions along the way. "We don't give up on our clients and as far as we are concerned, every client is a VIP from day one. We cater to wealthy capable buyers just like we cater to the average buyers and those who need additional resources" as Isaac puts it. This company is supported by its designated broker Paul Bermudez out of the Dallas area and has become a shining example of a caring real estate company.

Heartis Real Estate Group, by size, is a small brokerage but has plenty of heart to spare. Their Real Estate professionals share the beliefs and values of the company leadership. They have all adopted the true meaning of “Home is where the Heartis” because they believe it is their responsibility to be dedicated to helping homeowners achieve their dreams. Not all buyers are ready to make the leap, the company sets themselves apart because of their dedication to staying involved with individuals until they can become homebuyers, no matter their situation.

Moriah Burk, REALTOR® at Heartis Real Estate Group believes the brand's success can be attributed to the fact “at Heartis, we recognize every client has a different story and deserves a place to call home” According to Isaac, Moriah is one of the most successful real estate agents and distinguished leaders in the company. Moriah “being an agent with Heartis Real Estate Group has given me the freedom to help people in all walks of life” is a statement that resonates with the core of what Heartis Real Estate Group represents. Her clients seem to support the belief that Heartis Real Estate Group truly practices what they preach. As a professional real estate agent, she is a reflection of the brand, and when a client like Natilee is saying “Moriah is such an awesome REALTOR®! She made out first time buying process such a smooth experience” she exemplifies the companies core beliefs and values. Every agent at Heartis Real Estate is making it a mission to help people become homebuyers, even when they feel like it is out of reach.
