

Singer-songwriter breaks all odds in recruiting all-star line up while COVID shutdown to record his single!

Locked in the vocal booth for hours until rescued by custodian!

California, San Francisco, Sep 16, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Peter London presents: Summer Love Vibrations

September 2021 - Peter London is an artist and performer who approaches music with creativity, passion, and commitment to quality.

His sound could be described as a very personal combination of rock, indie, and even pop, tipping the hat off to influential artists like Tom Petty, Coldplay, and Foo Fighters, only to mention but a few.

Recently, Peter set out to release a brand new project named “Summer Love Vibrations.”

This release encapsulates the artist’s unique production aesthetics, with a lush, spontaneous sound that feels textural and multi-dimensional.

The track, written by the artist himself, who played guitar and sang, also features various amazing musicians, including Tommy Kessler from Blondie (guitar), Peter Bugg Rizzo from Gene Loves Jezebel (bass), and Nick Banks, who is a touring Keyboardist known for his work with the Human League. All of these musicians were forced to cancel tours due to COVID, but in spite of the tough situation, this meant that they had more time on hand, so they could focus on recording this track with Peter! The instrumentals are powerful and balanced, while the vocal melody is present and jumps out of the speaker, while still remaining firmly anchored to the mix! Everything is quite balanced, with just the right amount of spice and excitement to do something amazing.

At the end of the day, Peter London stands out for his distinctive character, and this release is a true treat for any music fans who enjoy songs that are made with passion and enthusiasm for creativity, rather just piggybacking on the sound of other established artists! If you look for unique music with a strong identity, this one is the right pick for you!
