Musical artist

Pontevedra, Vigo, Sep 9, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Suzerain is a Venezuelan rapper, singer, and songwriter of Argentine origin. He is known for his clever wordplay, the real talk style, and deep subject matter. His style of music is generally defined as Rap & Hip-Hop, but he has also ventured into other genres such as reggaeton, trap, drill, dancehall, and rock, which makes him a versatile and multifaceted artist.

Self-improvement, science, religion, philosophy, geopolitics, economics, demography, history, occultism, ufology, and all kinds of informational and speculative oddities have been among the themes that make up Suzerain's lyrics narrative.

Significantly enough, Suzerain's songs have been subject to censorship and blocking from various manifestations of dogmatic and intolerant thoughts. Such an identity of conduct on the part of so diverse instances only serves to confirm that Suzerain's work is unbearable for those who cannot bear either the Truth or the exercise of freedom.

Suzerain considers that the crisis suffered by today's society is, fundamentally, of a spiritual nature and, precisely for this reason, he is pessimistic about the possibility that it can be solved by political, economic, scientific, and religious bodies. He does believe, however, in the indescribable effects that personal relationship with God, following initiatory teachings, individual seeking, and obedience to the Holy Spirit can have on the human soul. The result of this personal vision is that, currently, settled in Spain, he has adopted the resolution to dedicate his life to "doing good", for which he uses different means such as his Instagram account (visited daily by hundreds of people), journalistic activity, historical research, courses, online conferences and various forms of help to people suffering from spiritual and material needs.
