United Kingdom, London, Oct 3, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - A Fave Five Films has announced an upcoming film release titled 'Tumble Weave'. The film is directed by an American author, screenwriter, and filmmaker, Andreia Solomon Burke. 'Tumble Weave' is A Fave Five Films' second work to be released in February 2022. "We are pleased to announce a new short film titled Tumble Weave. The film is A Fave Five Films' second short film supported by talented actors/actresses and a mesmerizing plot you will enjoy in February 2022," said A Fave Five Films representative.

Tumble Weave is an independent film production by A Fave Five Films, an independent family-owned company. The new film is a short film with an enticing story and a great ending. This film will entertain viewers with truthful conversations between characters and fresh comedy plots. Tumble Weave follows the lives of 3 salon goers who reveal and find out some hurtful truths. A cancer survivor is reunited with her longtime friend and stylist, who purposely stayed away because she didn't want anyone to know about her diagnosis. A bride-to-be is sitting next to her future husband's mistress. And an aristocratic young woman is convinced that Kim Kardashian invented cornrows. Sir Marco Robinson of the Netflix movie Legacy of Lies was also in the film. He played the role of Paul, the aristocratic young woman's dad.

"It's time that we return to the true art of storytelling and not these quick fixes of "reality TV" that's being force-fed to viewers," said the film Director, Andreia Solomon Burke.
