

African American Mathematician Invents Gamified Software To Help Children and Adults Trade Financial Markets Profitably

Nathan J. Williams Launches Effort to Commercialize Forex Trading Through Tech

Texas, Dallas, Oct 22, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - In response to the growing number of newbie speculators entering the financial markets, investing their hard-earned money without discernment, and inevitably succumbing to losses when the market dips, Nathan J. Williams, an African American mathematician and veteran investor invented a software that prevents significant losses and optimizes profitability.

AIRO, as it's cleverly named, is a gamified trading system that paints the direction of the markets and reveals investment opportunities with the highest probability of success. The software, when combined with William's proprietary strategies, in his words, "allows traders to see and trade the movement of any market as if they were Neo navigating through the Matrix."

Incorporating math, artificial intelligence, and 10 year's worth of historical data extracted from the forex, futures, energy, metals, stocks and indices markets, newbie and seasoned investors are given the ultimate cheat code for buying and selling any financial asset available in the markets, without spending hours analyzing the markets or risking a sustained loss of money due to faulty trades.

The overall experience of AIRO is gamified - based on 3 easy to follow rules - BOUNCE, ARROW, GO. The system itself is so simplified that adolescents can partake in the HYPE of investing in the financial markets, profitably. Newbies with very limited knowledge and experience of trading or investing in the financial markets, are outfitted with AIRO and fully equipped to profit, within 72 hours of setting up the software.

Recently, Nathan J. Williams launched a binary options division to AIRO and also a live boiler room where he, as well as other seasoned traders, take on the markets during New York and London Open. In addition to AIRO, Mr. Williams is also working on launching a full-throttle financial literacy center that provides disenfranchised communities with the opportunity to learn about financial investing. The goal is to impact one million people across the globe, sharing tools, resources and invaluable insight to even the playing field within the financial world.
