Milan Fashion Campus was established in 2012 by Angelo Russica, who is not only a fashion expert but also has proven his expertise in the field working as a designer and fashion expert with renowned multinational fashion companies and famous fashion designers, such as Gianni Versace - Max Mara Group - Marzotto Group - Miroglio Group in Spain Corte Ingles Induyco in Japan World Co,Ltd., started his Career with Giorgio Correggiari during the same period of Domenico Dolce, Stefano Gabbana (Dolce & Gabbana).

Everybody agrees on the notoriety of Italian design quality but the way they do it has never been common knowledge. The finesse of their products have been recognized for hundreds of years and many people from around the world have been coming to Italy to learn Italian design. That is including the Milan Fashion Campus, whose courses have been helping people to learn Italian fashion and their methods straight from the Italians themselves in Milan, the capital of design. Unlike many other design schools, Milan Fashion Campus' students can learn the necessary and requested skills without having to invest excessive time or money. They have been expanding this opportunity online to provide flexibility and accessibility; allowing students to learn whenever they want and wherever they are in the world.

After their success with their first online courses last year, Milan Fashion Campus has released more options of online courses regarding design, styling, social media, branding, and career guidance. These courses provide the latest required skills in the industry that will help anyone to step into the competitive industry. With the latest online learning platform, students will also receive feedback directly from fashion experts on campus and from the exclusive school community inside the platform.

Once completed the Online Fashion Courses, students can always deepen their study and have a real Italian and fashion experience directly from Milan, Italy.
