

Jeff Whippo Shares His Views on Community Expectations of Business

This Press Release is written to inform the readers that Jeff Whippo shares his views on community expectations of business.

California, Los Angeles, Oct 27, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Jeffery Whippo explains the community expectations of the business. According to him, businesses are expected to be a helping force within the communities they reside increasing the responsibility of the corporation to include society as an additional stakeholder to be accountable to.

Whippo states that it doesn't matter whether you are running a medical group, a bank, or a large manufacturing company; you must support your local community. Companies should look for opportunities that allow them to contribute to their local environments from anything to funding parks, recreation, or cultural centers, to just providing activities to bring the community together.

Jeffery Whippo states that your people have their own expectations for how your organization and your leaders should act; if their expectations aren't met, they'll eventually look elsewhere for work. According to him, in order to improve employee engagement and retention at your organization, you'll need to develop a deeper understanding of your employees' expectations and the modern business best practices that can address them.

About Jeff Whippo

Jeff Whippo is a professional educator and developer of people, teams, and leaders. He is a well-educated professional who has attended California Coast University, Boston University, California State Polytechnic University, Community College of the Air Force, and Citrus College. He also worked as a Combat Intelligence Specialist for the USAF for almost 4 years. He contributes to a number of charitable causes including The Jimmy Fund, Junior Diabetes, Goodwill, and American Veterans.

Jeffery is an avid learner who loves to study ancient history and psychology. He is also a veteran member of the VFW.

Media Contact

Jeffery Whippo

jon162@yopmail.com

Source : Jeff Whippo

See on IssueWire