Dr. Michael D. Kimzey, DO, FACOI

Dr. Kimzey graduated with his Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine degree from the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine. He then went on to complete his residency in internal medicine at the same educational venue, and his fellowship at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey School of Osteopathic Medicine.

Recognized as a Fellow of the American College of Osteopathic Internists (FACOI), the doctor is board-certified in infectious disease and internal medicine through the American Osteopathic Board of Internal Medicine (AOBIM). The AOBIM is an organization that provides board certification to qualified Doctors of Osteopathic Medicine who specialize in the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of disease in adults.

Continuously advancing his efforts, he is an active member of the American Osteopathic Association, the Infectious Disease Society of America, and the International Society of Travel Medicine.

As a testament to his success, Dr. Kimzey has been the recipient of the Top Doctor Award by Main Line Today Magazine in 2015.

Dr. Emily L. Wong, MD, Ph.D., FACP

Dr. Wong earned her medical degree (MD) and Doctor of Philosophy degree (Ph.D.) from the State University of New York at Buffalo School of Medicine and Biomedical Sciences. She completed her residency at the University of Michigan Health System at Ann Arbor and her fellowship at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

A Fellow of the American College of Physicians (FACP), the doctor is board-certified in infectious disease and internal medicine by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

On a professional level, Dr. Wong is a proud member of the Infectious Diseases Society of America, and the Pennsylvania Medical Society.

Dr. Alyssa Wankewicz, MD

A board-certified infectious disease specialist, Dr. Wankewicz prides herself on her compassion, attention to detail, and patient-centered approach to care. She is dedicated to listening to and communicating with her patients. Her areas of focus include travel medicine and unexplained fever.

Pertaining to her educational pursuits, she graduated with her medical degree from the Medical College of Georgia at Georgia Regents University. She then completed her residency at Greenwich Hospital and her fellowship at the University of Texas Medical Branch Hospitals.

Among her professional affiliations, Dr. Wankewicz is an active member of the Infectious Diseases Society of America, the American Academy of HIV Medicine, and the Association for Tropical Medicine and Hygiene.

Throughout her illustrious career, she has been the recipient of various awards and accolades, including the 2017 Yale/Stanford Global Health Scholar, and the 2016 Greenwich Quality Safety Award.
