

John E. Nichols, MD, a Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility Specialist with Piedmont Reproductive Endocrinology Group

Get to know Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility Specialist Dr. John E. Nichols, who serves patients throughout the State of South Carolina.

New York City, New York Nov 18, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - An exceptional reproductive endocrinology & infertility specialist, Dr. Nichols is the Founder and Medical Director of Piedmont

Reproductive Endocrinology Group (PREG), with office locations in Greenville, Spartanburg, Columbia, and Summerville, South Carolina & Asheville, North Carolina.

Spending the first seven years of his career in academic institutions and hospital settings, he established PREG in 2003, as the Medical and Laboratory Director, to be able to care for his patients without institutional constraints. He has grown PREG to be one of the premier fertility clinics in the United States.

Before embarking on his professional journey, Dr. Nichols graduated magna cum laude from Georgia Southwestern College and earned his medical degree from the Medical College of Georgia, where he was inducted into the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society. He completed his internship and residency in obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Alabama, Birmingham, and completed his fellowship in reproductive endocrinology and infertility at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center.

An expert in his field, the doctor is board-certified in reproductive endocrinology & infertility and obstetrics & gynecology by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology (ABOG). The mission of the ABOG is to define specialty standards, certify obstetricians and gynecologists, and facilitate continuous learning to advance knowledge, practice, and professionalism in women's health. He has also received Certification in Advanced Laparoscopy and Microsurgical Training.

Reproductive endocrinology and infertility (REI) is a surgical subspecialty of obstetrics and gynecology that trains physicians in reproductive medicine addressing hormonal functioning as it pertains to reproduction, as well as the issue of infertility. While most REI specialists primarily focus on the treatment of infertility, reproductive endocrinologists are trained to also evaluate and treat hormonal dysfunctions in females and males after the reproductive years.

In addition to being a published author, researcher, and presenter, Dr. Nichols has obtained several awards over the years such as the Gamma Beta Phi Honor Society, the Merck Manual Award (given to those who graduated at the top ten percent of their class). He was listed in the "Best Doctors in America" between 2009-2012 and also listed in "Best Obstetrician/Gynecologist in America" in 2010.
