

Who is Jevonta Clark? The Rising Artist Who is Taking Over the Music Industry

It was one of my favorite songs to make. The beat just had a really good vibe to it and was just really catchy. I'd say the song is very diverse and can really fit into any environment or scene. It was just one of those things that I knew the song

Columbia, South Carolina Nov 28, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - If you search for the name Jevonta Clark on Instagram or Tik Tok, you may see his social media profiles have hundred of thousands to millions of followers. So, who is he and how did he get there?

Jevonta Clark, A.K.A “JC” is an artist, producer, and artist manager from Columbia, South Carolina. The diverse artist impacts the music industry in different ways from different angles. For years Jevonta has been interested in the making of music and the music business. He began making music at a young age and now his career has taken off.

His hit single has garnered thousands of streams on Spotify over the last year. All of his songs have brought great publicity to the artist. He states about the song,

And perform well it did. His song quickly became the artist’s most popular song on all platforms

Jevonta also took a liking to managing artists to go along with his career as an artist. Mr. Clark is very well connected in the music industry and has been in the studio with multiple big named artists. Jevonta knows the ins and outs of the music industry and that is what helps him be so good at managing artists. He knows exactly what moves to make and when to do it. Clark is also very keen to help artists grow their brands digitally. Clark has become a trusted and well-known name in the music business, whether it be from his music as an artist or managing artists himself. Jevonta has a bright future ahead of himself and the skies are the limit for his career.

Media Contact

Jevonta Clark

jevontatclark@gmail.com

Source : upreleaseofficial.com

See on IssueWire