

Bridging the gap to help businesses embrace data for effective decision-making: DataToBiz

To unlock data-driven decision making, start-ups and established firms rely on DataToBiz for a seamless experience.

Panchkula, Haryana Jan 3, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Companies today have access to more data than ever before. Effective leaders rely on data to make informed decisions and drive meaningful insights. But the question that remains is how conveniently can it be leveraged to drive business growth.

Operational or business challenges require firms to make a whole lot of decisions. Big-bet decisions often involve situations with just the right or wrong choices; Cross-cutting decisions require collaboration beyond organizations' boundaries; Ad-hoc decisions need to be made impromptu depending on the current situation; while Delegated decisions as the name suggests, are assigned to the in-house team.

DataToBiz has been providing a smooth experience for enterprises by enabling data-driven decision-making in a post-pandemic age. With a wide scope of providing customized solutions for business challenges, they allow firms to have a competitive advantage in the industry.

Data is an asset that benefits the entire organization enhancing the co-dependency of teams. From identifying the requirements of a business to the ideation and final execution, the data engineering solutions from DataToBiz are adaptable and reflect a comprehensive approach that helps firms achieve a greater ROI in their project-delivery efforts.

Companies that capture insights from their data tend to lead the market as they are aware of customer expectations and the competition. These insights also empower them to rapidly innovate and create new revenue streams. A recent survey found that 77% of the companies in the USA using data for business analytics have improved decision-making.

DataToBiz has a very streamlined workflow towards harnessing the power of data to yield better decisions for enterprises. Their customized solutions with scalable architecture help in re-engineered, sustainable decisions that maximize customer lifetime value for the clients.
