

ELF UNIVERSE announces second mystery box sale on DEC 19

Futiga, Western Dec 16, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - ELF UNIVERSE is excited to launch its second mystery box sale on DEC 19. Each mystery box contain one Elve NFT assets. The mystery box sale marks another crucial milestone for the blockchain game.

ELF UNIVERSE has completed its alpha test and has recently announced several upcoming milestones. In December, the project is looking to launch its open beta test, NFT staking, NFT marketplace and game.

ELF UNIVERSE is a play-to-earn NFT-based role-playing game on the blockchain. The developers have a partnership with BSC for mentorship and institutional support. Blockchain gaming is a prominent trend in the industry and supporting projects is beneficial for all parties involved.

ELF UNIVERSE is available on Android and iOS, where players can earn rare nonfungible tokens. Players can sell, trade and buy these NFTs on a peer-to-peer marketplace. Additionally, there are in-game rewards for winning battles, with which the player may do as they please.

ELF UNIVERSE team is excited about the new milestone of launching its second mystery box sale. Users can acquire the mystery boxes on Dec 19, 2021. ELF Universe is a decentralized game based on the BSC smart chain. All game characters and elves are NFT, which can be traded and cannot be tampered with. It is the player's own assets in the meta universe, sacred and inviolable. The story is set on the planet Macamara in the Dura galaxy, a group of lovely elves live on this planet. All the elven warriors rose up against the aliens from far away. Choose your warriors to fight.

Acquiring a mystery box lets NFT owners start the game early and begin earning immediately on the official launch day. It is also a great way to collect ELF UNIVERSE NFTs at a much lower price and trade them on the Marketplace later on. Holders can also stake their NFTs to earn the $ELF token — used for governance, buying elves and items — or become a sponsor through ELF UNIVERSE 's yield system.

Rare NFTs will be challenging to acquire and have robust statistics for elves and equipment. Obtaining these high-rate items early on will help players to progress quickly, benefiting from more efficient farming and earning strategies.
