

Female biker Saffy Sprocket encourages motorcycle safety with brand-new music video 'Low-slide Life'

Cheshire, United Kingdom Dec 8, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Female Motorcyclist, Saffy Sprocket has become quite famous among global bike enthusiasts with her quirky yet useful tips on different aspects of bike riding. She has recently released a super fun and educational rap song, 'Low Slide Life' which encourages road safety among bikers. As a prominent biker herself, she had always been concerned about the safety of her fellow riders. The main objective of the song is to make riders aware of the difficulties that might come across during their journey, ending with a very important message encouraging bikers to wear all the correct bike gear, at all times.

The female motorcyclist devised a cunning method to provoke the thoughts of the bikers with her highly entertaining music video. The rap points out some of the most common causes of a bike accident which riders should be aware of before displaying the world-famous ATGATT message. The rap verses are performed by talented rapper Charlie J and the sound production is done by JP. With the best effort from both of them, Saffy Sprocket has created such a witty music video that not only offers enjoyment but makes you aware of the dangers of the road.

Saffy Sprocket is a North England-based motorcycle maniac who loves to go on an adventure on her two wheels. She comes with useful tips about biking, reviewing bikes, gears, and more, and shares her experience with the world.
